

Meet Relina, Remi, and Octavia

Madison County Children Services is currently recruiting for adoptive families interested in this wonderful sibling group of three. Ages two, three, and seven, they are uniquely different; but share the common need for a special forever family. All three children appear to be developmentally on target for the most part; however 3 year old Remi has been assessed to need speech therapy. The oldest child, Relina, has experienced some significant behavior problems in the past but has made wonderful progress. Her brother, Remi, can also exhibit some mild behavior problems. Relina is social and well mannered most of the time. She enjoys helping with her brother and sister. She loves pets of all kinds and appears to be very intelligent. Octavia and Remi are both very independent and active children. Octavia is generally a very happy and content toddler. She really enjoys playgrounds. Remi can be moody at times and he is all boy. He likes to play in the dirt, run, and romp. Remi may benefit from attending preschool with peers similar to his age.

Could you be the family We're looking for?

The ideal family will have the resources to meet each child's individual needs, which may include mental health counseling and speech therapy. These children will need patient parents, committed to them for the long term to build trust and a strong family bond. These children may fit well in a family with one or two other children, but parents of a larger family may have difficulty being able to dedicate enough time to the needs of this sibling group. MCCS does not intend on splitting up these children. These children have an older brother who is not placed with them. It may be beneficial for these children to have contact with this older brother.
